

Global ULI Leadership Ahead For Outgoing Chair Greg West

TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 2020

ULI Southeast Florida / Caribbean extends heartfelt appreciation to outgoing Chair Greg West as his term as leader of the district council comes to a close at the end of this month.

Greg, CEO of ZOM Living, was appointed Chair of the district council in July of 2017 and focused his three-year term on advancing ULI's efforts to improve resiliency, mobility, and housing affordability within the region.

"It is with much gratitude that we thank Greg for his excellent leadership over the past three years."

"His dedication and passion have advanced ULI to new levels within our communities and his commitment to finding unique new ways to carry out our mission has made us a better organization and greatly expanded our impact," said Julie Medley, the organization's Executive Director.

His work on climate resiliency elevated the dialogue amongst the real estate industry and the broader business and civic community and led to the execution of multiple resiliency-focused advisory services panels in Southeast Florida and the Caribbean with resiliency focus areas.

IN BRIEF

Greg West, CEO of ZOM Living and Chair of ULI Southeast Florida / Caribbean, is tapped for global ULI leadership as his term as chair comes to a close.

WHAT'S NEXT

Greg has been asked to serve as a ULI Global Governing Trustee, as a member of the ULI Americas Executive Committee, and on the Advisory Board of the Center for Sustainability and Economic Performance.

He will continue to support ULI Southeast Florida / Caribbean as the Chair of the Governance Committee.

WHO'S NEXT

Scott MacLaren, President of Stiles, has been named the next Chair of ULI Southeast Florida/Caribbean. He will take over the Chair position as Greg's term comes to an end at the end of the month.

“On behalf of the entire District Council, I’d like to thank Greg for his thoughtful leadership over the past three years and the significant contributions he has made to advancing ULI within our region.”

- Neisen Kasdin

On his departure, Neisen Kasdin, Managing Partner of Akerman Miami and District Council Governance Committee Member, said “Greg has a deep understanding and appreciation of ULI’s strengths and a genuine passion for driving progress on the key issues facing our region. He is a leader who sets the bar high and his energy, commitment, and new ideas have inspired all those who have worked with him during the last three years.”

“I am excited to congratulate him on being named to three global ULI leadership positions and look forward to his continued local leadership as the Chair of our district’s Governance Committee.”

Greg’s commitment to restructuring the leadership and operations of the District Council led to a vast expansion in the district’s local engagement and community outreach, as well as new engagement from many companies and top players in Southeast Florida’s real estate industry that had previously been uninvolved with ULI.

During his term, membership hit a record high of more than 1,250 members and the council saw its largest annual events flourish.

“We accomplished more than I ever imagined possible and I could not be more honored and humbled from the experience. My deepest thanks to all of you for your support and engagement to make this happen.”

- Greg West

He leaves the chair position in the hands Scott MacLaren, President of Stiles, a Fort Lauderdale-based development and construction firm operating throughout the southeastern United States.

“I am extremely confident that Scott is an ideal leader to carry our District Council forward to the next and even more successful chapter. I am excited to lean in and offer him my support along with all of you.”

Greg’s role with ULI will expand globally as he has been tapped to serve as a Global Governing Trustee and as a member of the Americas Executive Committee for ULI. In addition, he has also accepted a position on the ULI Center for Sustainability and Economic Performance (CSEP) Global Advisory Board.

We are excited for your ULI future Greg! Thanks for your unwavering commitment to our organization and our mission.
